One Shot, Two Stabbed

WHEREAS it may be noted that Harry Bond, 64 Paramount Court, University Street, London WC1E 6JP has recently acquired a large batch of stencils:

AND these stencils may be regarded with some doubt insofar as they have sat around deteriorating ever since Greg Pickersgill got hold of them in 1974 or so:

AND MOREOVER that they do not come with carbons, nor yet with the proper heading for my duplicator, so they may prove quite unviable:

THEREFORE I feel it best that I type a test on one of them to see how they print after their various misadventures, and not risk the wrecking of a serious publication with them:

AND THEREFORE this one-sheeter was conceived, to be run through FAPA and given the colophon number Coldcom Press 15. So mote it be...
